

Prompt Hierarchy Task Completion

by Misty Tzugaris

Task Completion Instructions

After entering the date and task that is being assessed, use the hierarchy of prompts to encourage completion of the task. It is important to use prompts from least intrusive to most intrusive as follows:

- Independent (no prompt)
- Gestures (hand motion, pointing, presenting)
- Indirect Verbal (verbally asking a question, like "what is next?")
- Direct Verbal (explicit verbal direction)
- Model (demonstrating the task)
- Partial Physical (touching hand to initiate task)
- Full Physical (hand-over-hand)

Check the scores of all prompts used to complete the task. From here, the data can be used to determine emerging needs to promote independent tasks and avoid prompt dependency.

7 levels of prompts to easily assess where your students are and help get achieve independence.

This experience changed me as a teacher. I came to understand that students are people who have feelings and who don't want to feel cornered. They want to learn, but they also want to feel as if they have some control over themselves. I never made assumptions again about students before they came into my class. Every student is different; no two students react in the same way. It is our task ...
