Art jewelry is one of the names given to jewelry created by studio craftspeople. As the name suggests, art jewelry emphasizes creative expression and design, and is characterized by the use of a variety of materials, often commonplace or of low economic value. In this sense, it forms a counterbalance to the use of "precious materials" (such as gold, silver and gemstones) in conventional or fine jewelry, where the value of the object is tied to the value of the materials from which ...

A prized ring given to her by her beloved husband Albert, who enjoyed designing jewelry for his wife, features the romantic combination of turquoise, symbolizing fidelity; and pearl, a marker of purity. Her bracelet, which features a cameo by Albert, was a gift before their wedding. After he died, Victoria famously wore austere black mourner's clothes for the rest of her life, but later portraits show that she never took the bracelet off.
